

Mr. Salmaan Khursheed Inaugurates Paperex 2009

New Delhi, 4th December, 2009: Paperex 2009, the 9th International Exhibition & Conference on the Pulp and Paper Industries was inaugurated by Mr Salmaan Khursheed, Hon'ble Minister for Corporate Affairs, Government of India. Paperex 2009 is taking place from December 4th – 7th, 2009 at Pragati Maidan, New Delhi and is witnessing the launch of the latest range of products from multiple exhibitors from India as well as from other countries.

On the eve of the inauguration, Mr Salman Khursheed congratulated the organizers for their effort. "This is a great forum for the paper industry. This has given a common platform for both Indian and international players to share their experience and ideas. I would like to congratulate the organizers for their efforts to organize an event of this magnitude," commented Mr Khursheed. He further said that even in the world of digitalization paper still serves as a bridge for our communication.

A number of product launches driven by innovation has marked the exhibition in the Indian sub-continent. Various exhibitors in the national and International arena chose this platform adhering to the fact that the exhibition ensures a very focused and captive trade visitors. One of the major attractions of this year's edition is a special stall on hand papers by Khadi and Village Industry Commission. One can see highly innovative paper products in this stall.

A number of Indian and international exhibitors have offered their new product launches during the event. Ajit Industries, one of the leading Indian companies is launching Sunsui 367 a product for Permanent splices for High Temperature, Sunsui 257 Repulpable Tape and Sunsui 801 Rupulpable Tape. Other products that are being rolled out include Brightness Tester (Micro) by Global Engineering Corporation at a very economic price point, A4 size carton box packing, an innovative concept of shrink wrapping individual carton by Minipack. The other interesting introduction is INVOTip, a new energy saving and quality enhancing patented metering element that ensures excellent fibre coverage by Pepco Machinery. The other Indian entities, which are launching their latest offerings, include Wemet Papers, Pran Nath Kapur & Sons, Quadrant EPP Surlon, Sharma Fabricators and Erectors Sud & Waren, Vimal Chrome-Tech, Yash Papers, Gulshan Polyols and JK Engineers among others.

In addition to this, a number of international exhibitors are also launching their latest range of products. Feltest Equipment BV from The Netherlands is introducing two new products— TENSIO+, a high-tech digital tensometer and the CAPTO, a strong and light-weight felt clamp. Rochling Leripa Papertech GmbH & Co. KG from Austria is launching Röchling Leripa Light and PX product lines. The other companies, who are also rolling out their latest range include— Brunnschweiler SA, Spain; Gold Star Paper Tech., South Korea; Industria Cartaria Pieretti S.P.A, Italy; Novimpianti, Italy and O.M.T. Srl, Italy, among others.

The exhibition is poised to help the participants generate sales, raise their brand profile, launch new products, network with key industry figures and develop powerful new sales & distribution channels. Paperex over the years has become the traditional meeting point for the manufacturers, professionals & suppliers in the pulp, paper and all the related industries. Paperex caters to the exact need of the industry within the sub-continent by bringing together the biggest manufacturers & suppliers from across the world under one roof and allowing them exclusive platform for the exchange of information, views, news & technology. There will be numerous launches, new technologies & products at display. Paperex 2009 has more than 380 domestic & international exhibitors and is expected to witness over 30,000 visitors from across the globe.